

HOME HAPPENINGS.

The residence of L. D. Strock on South Broad street is being painted.

James Williams is having hardwood floors laid in his West Main street residence.

H. A. Manchester has been appointed administrator of the estate of the late Mary S. Beardsley.

Work has been started on the foundation for the new residence of Harry Defts on High street. E. E. Hull has the contract for the carpenter work.

A good game of base ball was played on Athletic Field Wednesday afternoon between the Columbiana and Normal teams. The visitors won by a score of 6 to 4.

People interested in the local cemetery mausoleum project have been invited to go to the Berlin cemetery today to inspect the mausoleum in the Berlin cemetery.

Under the readjustment of postmaster salaries, Postmaster J. R. Taber is given an increase of $100 which will make his salary for the year beginning July 1, $1,300.

Halley's comet has nearly disappeared from view but several people got a glimpse of it Monday night. T. D. Carpenter has a strong field glass and he says he saw it quite distinctly.

A suit asking for a partition of property in Canfield township owned by the late Daniel Blott has been filed in common pleas court by Monroe C. Clay against Nathan Blott and others.

W. G. Caisney has purchased of C. H. Neff a lot on North Broad street, between the residences of Mr. Neff and D. A. Christman, on which he will shortly have a modern dwelling erected.

Many former Normalites were here this week for the events incident to commencement. All were pleased to learn of the success of the institution and its bright prospects for the future.

The Normal college base ball team went to Berlin Center last Saturday and defeated the Berlin team by a score of 14 to 0. The local lads speak highly of the courtesies extended by the Berlinites.

Quite a number of citizens attended the commencement exercises of the Patterson-Boxwell graduates at the union school building last Thursday afternoon. The young people acquitted themselves most creditably.

The Women's Missionary Society of the Presbyterian church will meet Wednesday, June 16, at 2 o'clock p. m. at the home of Mrs. Edward Hull on South Broad street. Subject, "South America." Leader, Mrs. Charles Hine.

Miss Florence Crawford, director of music in the Normal college, desires through the Dispatch to return thanks to the chorus class for the baton presented her and for its interest and earnest work in preparing and presenting the cantata, "The Rose Maiden."

Through an oversight the name of Eugene Mark Liddle was omitted from the program of the commencement exercises of the Grammar department of the union schools, published in the last Dispatch. The subject of his recitation was "Bernardo Del Carpio."

Two young men who left New York a few weeks since to walk to the Pacific coast, hoping to beat the record of the veteran pedestrian Weston, passed through Canfield Monday morning. They were in the pink of condition, ahead of their schedule and firm in the faith that they would win in the contest.

While Frank Tow was operating a bolter in the plant of the Canfield Mfg. & Novelty Co. Wednesday afternoon a piece of lumber was caught by the saw and hurled with great force. It struck Mr. Tow's left thumb, badly lacerating it. Only a week ago the same thumb was painfully injured.

Canfield people have had several opportunities the past week to hear the roar of the gas well struck last week on Alexander Dickson's farm, a short distance east of the village. The pressure is said to be more than 200 pounds to the square inch and when the valve is opened and the gas permitted to flow the roar can be heard a long distance and at the well it is deafening.

The open meeting of the Men's Club held last Friday evening at the Presbyterian church was largely attended, many of the wives and sweethearts of members being present. Attorney L. A. Manchester of Youngstown delivered an excellent address and the orchestra added much to the enjoyment of the evening. Light refreshments were served. The club voted to take a vacation during the months of July and August.

Council met in regular monthly session Monday evening. Application was made for a franchise by the company owning the gas well on the Dickson farm, one provision of which is that a maximum rate of 45¢ per thousand feet may be charged for gas. A committee of two was appointed to secure information from other towns in this locality regarding natural gas franchises. A petition from citizens asking council to take action to have the proposed mausoleum erected in the rear of the village cemetery was presented and a committee of two was named to confer with the local representative of the Mausoleum Co. A recess was then taken until next Tuesday night.

Much interest centered in the commencement exercises of the Grammar department of the Union schools held last Friday afternoon, there being a large attendance in attendance. The program as published in the Dispatch was carried out, every member of the class performing in a most creditable manner, reflecting credit upon themselves and their instructor. The rostrum was tastefully decorated with plants and flowers and the class and class motto were prettily displayed. Prof. E. E. Zimmerman had reason to feel proud when he handed the young people certificates showing that they had most satisfactorily completed the work of the grammar department and were entitled to admission next year to the North-Eastern Ohio Normal College.

We do hate to see a nice woman develop into a lovely character. One reason there is so much sickness is that it furnishes conversation.

TWENTY-SIXTH COMMENCEMENT

Of the North-Eastern Ohio Normal College a Grand Success-- Fine Class Graduated With Honors.

At no time in the history of the North-Eastern Ohio Normal College has more interest been manifested in the events incident to commencement week than was shown this year. Last Sunday afternoon marked the beginning of the week's program when the baccalaureate sermon was delivered in College Chapel by Prof. W. E. Wenner of Ashtabula Harbor, Ohio.

In anticipation of the occasion the spacious chapel had been given careful attention to make it attractive. The colors, red and black, were artistically draped from the center of the ceiling while the rostrum was banked with a profusion of tropical plants.

The graduates, their parents and friends, and members of the faculty occupied front seats in the center of the hall while the audience filled the remaining available space in the room.

The exercises opened at 2 o'clock with a song by the assemblage. Rev. D. D. Burt invoked the divine blessing which was followed by an anthem by the chorus class. President Guy introduced Prof. Wenner who pronounced the sermon. His effort was a masterly one and commanded the closest attention of his audience. He had for his subject "The Dignity of Reason" and the manner in which he handled it gave every evidence that he is a deep thinker and a man of splendid courage. The sermon was an inspiration not only for the class, but for every one who heard it. The Dispatch regrets it is unable to give the sermon in full.

After a vocal solo by Miss May Irwin, Rev. R. E. Pugh pronounced the benediction.

Sunday evening the annual sermon before the two Christian Associations of the college was delivered in the M. E. Church by the pastor, Rev. R. J. Beard. A fine audience was present and Mr. Beard in his sermon appeared at his best, giving a message encouraging, helpful and strengthening.

Monday evening brought the musical event of the year when the Beethoven Oratorio Society, under the direction of Miss Florence Crawford, head of the Normal music department, presented the cantata, "The Rose Maiden." In a most pleasing and finished manner. Miss Crawford and the society are to be congratulated on the success of the production.

The annual reunion of the Newtonian and Philomathean literary societies was held in College Chapel Tuesday evening and attended by a large number of present and former members. The following program was presented:

Piano Duet.....Misses Kirkpatrick and Parshal Newtonian Welcome.....Miss Katherine Sutton Newtonian Response.....Miss Warren D. Coy Reading.....Miss Elsie Bennett Vocal Solo.....Miss Ruby Childster Philomathean Welcome.....J. Allen Craig Philomathean Response.....Miss Anna Sonnsedecker Piano Solo.....Miss Crawford

Class day exercises were held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock and as usual an opportunity was given to view the various phases of college life. The several parts were well taken and the audience highly entertained.

Wednesday evening the annual reunion of the Alumni Association was held in College Chapel and brought together many of the members. The address was delivered by Attorney J. H. C. Lyons of Youngstown and he did himself proud. The banquet was held in the Presbyterian church parlors. The Ladies' Auxiliary College Board furnished a feast of good things. Judge D. F. Griffith of Youngstown, president of the Association, introduced Prof. E. M. Faust of Youngstown who acted as toastmaster. Many members responded to toasts, all expressing their love for and faith in the N. E. O. N. C. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Jerome Hull; vice-president, E. M. Faust; secretary, Miss Ethel Schaaf; treasurer, Herbert Delfs.

Thursday morning brought the commencement exercises proper. There was a very large attendance of people of this community have the deepest possible interest in the college as every seat in the spacious chapel was occupied when the exercises opened at 9:30 o'clock. The excellent class was composed of Miss Elsie M. Marshall, Miss Myrtle A. Johnston and Ethel E. Bissell. All acquitted themselves most creditably as their orations published below attest. The address of Prof. J. H. Dickson of Wooster University, Wooster, O., was one of the best ever heard here. The speaker's earnest, forceful manner made a deep impression on his hearers. It was generally conceded that this year's commencement was one of the most successful in the long history of the N. E. O. N. C.

The first speaker was Miss Elsie M. Marshall, who had for her subject, "Live For a Purpose."

Man is described by his ambition. If a man's ambition be to accumulate wealth, he is the slave of selfishness. If it be fame he will try to please; if pleasure, he will for the transient living for wealth, fame or pleasure but living for the present. Bishop Spalding says, "To live for common ends is to be common; the highest faith still makes the highest aim. For we grow like the things our souls be like and rise or sink as we aim high or low."

The progress of the world greatly depends upon the education of the masses. Education has saved the race from despondency and suicide. Upon it depends the moral and intellectual condition of the future. It belongs not to the rich alone but to the poor as well. Creation does not belong to those who can buy it. Although Milton was blind, he saw more beautiful visions than most of us ever see. Beethoven was deaf yet he heard more charming music than most of us ever hear.

Intellect guides the civilized world. It opens the entrance of the soul and helps one to feel that "Life is real, life is earnest." Through education, not through money, do the masses advance to a higher and a nobler life. The power to think and to enjoy the thoughts of others changes poverty into wealth; cottages into palaces, and the humble into kings. Faraday, Franklin, Fulton, Kepler and Edison were the sons of poor parents. Lincoln was born in a cabin. Christ in a manger.

Intellectuality does not need the influence of gold to give it power. Noble thoughts and noble deeds give to life a meaning entirely unknown to those who praise the composition. Bally says "We live in deeds, not years; in thoughts not breaths; in feelings, not in figures on a dial. We should count every breathstroke. He most lives who thinks most, feels the noblest, acts the best." No prince was ever so happy as John Wesley, Martin Luther or Frances Willard. No king ever enjoyed life as - ewton, Emerson or Edison.

Prosperity, which lifts us up the ladder of fame cannot be bought and sold like merchandise but must be acquired by perfection adaptation and perseverance. Perseverance is sure to win. Some one has said, "Of our very faults we make a ladder if we reach them under our feet." Kingsley said, "The night is darkest just before the dawn." Longfellow, "All things come round to him who will but wait." Conditions in life do not come from our surroundings, they are within us. Happiness comes from within. It is born of the heart. If man is unhappy he is the discordant element. All nature invites him into harmonious relations not only with his fellowman but with God. The prevalent idea that we are destined to three-score and ten years of unhappiness and misery no matter how honest or how upright we have been is worthy of repudiation. As beauty of feature is the external expression of a lofty aim, so is happiness the internal expression of a pure life. By keeping noble purposes before one, unused powers are brought into operation and the one is rewarded beyond expectation.

Excellence, whether moral or intellectual can only be obtained by keeping pace with the true and the beautiful. The necessity at present is not for more of us but for a better quality of us. The value of a nation is not measured by its population. Lincoln, not Chicago, speaks for Illinois. Gladstone, not London, for England. One Harriet Beecher Stowe was worth five thousand ordinary gossipers of slavery. One Washington was worth ten thousand average men. The true test of civilization is not the number of the crops nor the size of the cities but the kind of men and women a country turns out.

Every man is a specialist and needs education. Every one should be a success in his place for we all have some calling. Whether it be a minister or a pedagogue, a politician or a farmer, we are all placed in the world for a purpose God offers everyone a chance by creating all men equal. There are no favorites. The law of compensation is alike toward all. No man was born to be a parasite or a lord. Many a millionaire has ended his fortune by the sweat of his own brow. The idler, rich or poor, is a beggar. Emerson said "No one is a whole man until he learns how to earn a livelihood." Ruskin said, "If you want knowledge, you must toil for it. If food, you must toil for it. If pleasure, you must toil for it. Toils is the law. It is honest labor that wins. I have confidence in the laborer but none in the idler. Idleness is the mother of want. All eminent men have been laboring men. Shakespeare was a theater manager; Emerson, a school teacher; Lincoln, a farmer.

Nature gives nothing merely for the asking. Without purpose and effort, advancement is impossible. Great things are results, not happenings. Expect not the miraculous but that which is in harmony with nature. Miracles not only tend to overthrow the natural order of development but to destroy man's inspiration and desire for future advancement. When man ceases to climb the ladder of fame, he is dead--dead to himself, dead to the world, dead to the world. When he stops climbing, he begins falling. There is no such thing as rest in the moral and intellectual sphere, ceaseless efforts and untiring energies are the characteristics of the lives of great men. Results are rewards, not gifts. No one can accomplish anything by wishing, sighing, hoping or dreaming. Nine out of every ten of those born and raised in luxury and idleness live with few friends and die with few mourners. No one is entitled to

Death of Mrs. Electa Church.

Mrs. Electa M. Church died at her home on Broad street last Saturday night at 9 o'clock. She had been in failing health for several years but was confined to her bed only about a month, during which time she took no nourishment. Deceased was born in Orangeville, N. Y., November 20, 1825, consequently had passed her eighty-first birthday. Her maiden name was Electa Merrill. She was married to Darius J. Church of Canfield November 3, 1852, the result of their union being two children--John T. McColl, who died two years ago, and Fred J. Church, who survives. Mr. Church passed away in the fall of 1896. During her long residence in Canfield, 58 years, Mrs. Church endeavored herself to a wide circle of friends. She was indeed a woman of many parts, kind and generous, and her memory will ever be cherished by all who knew her. She was for many years a member of the Presbyterian church. Funeral services held from the family residence Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 were private.

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS.

Children's Day exercises will be held in the Ellsworth Presbyterian church next Sunday morning at 10 o'clock.

In the readjustment of postmaster salaries the following changes in nearby offices are noted: Sebring, and Calla are each reduced $100 a year, while an increase of $100 a year is given Canfield, Youngstown, Leetonia, Niles, Ravenna, Struthers, and East Palestine.

Cemetery Trustees Enjoined.

As a result of ground being broken Wednesday morning for the proposed mausoleum in the front part of the village cemetery, steps were taken to enjoin the cemetery trustees and the mausoleum company. Attorney E. N. Brown, acting for G. N. Boughton and F. J. Church, filed the papers in the case, making John Sanzenbacher, P. A. Beardsley and J. R. Taber, cemetery trustees, S. F. Switzer and the American Mausoleum Co. defendants. It is alleged that the trustees wrongfully and illegally assumed to act as a board of trustees; wrongfully and illegally entered into contract with Mr. Switzer and the mausoleum company and at the same time entered into an agreement to convey eleven lots in the cemetery to Mr. S. and his company; that the proposed mausoleum will spoil the beauty of the cemetery and interfere with the free enjoyment of and access to same. Judge Rogers granted a temporary injunction and Deputy Sheriff Bell was in Canfield early Thursday morning to serve notice on the defendants.

Two of the Cemetery Trustees Make a Statement.

Canfield, O., June 7, 1910. Editor Dispatch:—In reply to G. B. wish to state a few facts in the case. On Sept. 6, 1909, there was a written agreement by and between The National Mausoleum Co. and the trustees of our cemetery signed by J. R. Taber, Jas. Williams and C. H. Neff, the trustees at that time. In said agreement the trustees agreed to deed unto the share-holders (or subscribers to the mausoleum) a suitable lot for the best of our judgment the lot we have asked off is the only suitable lot in the cemetery.

John Sanzenbacher, P. A. Beardsley, Trustees.

Letter From Prof. Allan.

Prof. C. O. Allan, president of the Normal for several years and principal of the Payne, O., high school the past year, is now field organizer of the Press and College League of America. Under date of June 6 he wrote the Dispatch publisher as follows:

"It seems a long time since I last saw you, but I hear from you through the Dispatch. We anxiously await each issue, for through its columns we get a good idea of what is going on in Canfield and vicinity. We have many pleasant recollections of Canfield and the N. E. O. N. C. I am in somewhat different work at present; work that takes me over considerable territory. We have a great school. It is located at Harlan, Iowa. Our general office is at Omaha, Neb. Wish I could be present at your commencement. That is one thing I miss. I will get a report of it though, as I have each issue of the Dispatch forwarded to me. With best wishes to yourself and friends, and for the N. E. O. N. C. I remain,

C. O. Allan."

There's no use expecting some men to resist agents; they can't do it.
